“the mountainous area at the headwaters of the Han River was being contested”

484n71: 83—>82; Julian calendar—>Gregorian calendar

Add: Mansvelt-Beck failed to note the two-day error in the Gregorian calendar equivalents in the Hoang Concordance. Considering this discrepancy, the two cyclical dates would correspond to November 10 and November 12. However, according to Xu Xiqi 徐錫祺, Xinbian Zhongguo sanqian nian liri jiansuo biao 新編中國三千年曆日檢索表 (Beijing: Renmin jiaoyu chubanshe, 1992), 77, the two cyclical dates correspond to November 16 and November 18. On the Hoang Concordance error, see Paul Pelliot, “L’édition collective des œuvres de Wang Kouo-Wei,” T’oung Pao 26 (1929): 149n1.
